What is the difference between Summer Internship and ITR?

Summer Internship is offered with the intention of Pre-Placement Offer (PPO). ITR or Industrial Training is an academic requirement, to gain industry exposure. ITR is not a placement related activity.

Is internship mandatory?

No. Internship is not a mandatory academic requirement. Internship is enabled so that ultimately it is converted to a placement offer.

What is the internship duration? When will it start?

Internship duration is 4-6 months. It can start in January/February as per the company's discretion.

Why am I not allowed to apply for internship drives if I have a P offer?

Because the purpose of internship is to convert it to a placement. If a student already has a 'P' then he/she is not eligible to apply for an internship. Some other students who do not have the offer in hand will get the benefit.

Should I attend a preplacement talk? (PPT)

Yes. It is mandatory to attend. Because this is a chance for a student to clarify all the doubts related to the offer, role etc.

I did not get a link for the online test. What do I do?

Check both personal and learner IDs. If the email ID is wrong, then student will not receive the link. Also requested to check TRASH/SPAM folders.

I got logged out automatically during the virtual test. Why?

The reasons could be many, including technical, slow network and malpractice. Student needs to ensure you are fully equipped to attend online tests.

I am unable to opt in for the drive!

If student has an offer in hand student can't apply for a future drive. Also, if a student does not meet the criteria set by the company student will not be eligible to opt in.

Portal shows I am not eligible to participate in the drive!

Not eligible can be as per CGPA / Branch criteria.

I got placement but I did not get internship!

Internship is not mandatory. Do a project under a faculty and finish the academic process. Or student can try an internship through AICTE or other internship portals.

I registered for a placement drive.

Is it mandatory to appear for the test & interview process?

Yes. Absence will be considered as a violation of placement guidelines.

How do I prepare for the placement process?

It is student responsibility to gather information & understand the company better. Please go through the company website, understand the role and skill requirement, talk to your seniors who are there in the companies. Brush up on all the fundamentals. Practice assessments and company specific tests which are available in the portal.

When will I get my offer letter?

Companies take their time. They will connect with student once student is selected. There is no specific time to issue offer letters.

My onboarding date not received yet!

Again, this is the company's discretion. They will contact student as per their requirement. Since they have multiple colleges and many students to be onboarded, they need to plan this.

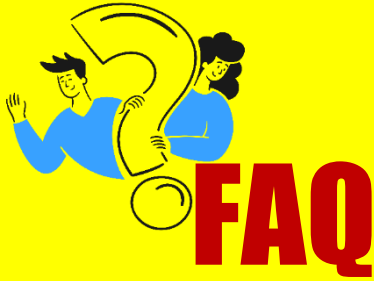

Can I change my onboarding date?

No. As this is a process that is being planned in detail for all the selected students the company will not accommodate such requests.

I have a high CGPA but did not get shortlisted!

This is company's discretion. Many times, companies do resume shortlisting.

I did well in the Online test but did not get shortlisted!

This happens since it is a relative process. Again, shortlisting is entirely the company's discretion.

I did not get intimation for further rounds after the test / interview!

Please note that only shortlisted students would be intimated about further rounds via an email.

My interviewer told me “I did great”, but surprisingly I did not get shortlisted?

Such comments are common. Do well and leave the results to the company.

Can I reject an offer?

No. Rejecting an offer is a violation of placement guidelines.

What if I get a better offer through my own efforts (off campus)?

Students are at their liberty to take a call. But students are expected to forward the offer letter and communicate off-campus placement to the placement office through the mail.

Do I get attendance for Placement drives?

No. Attendance request may be considered only if a test or assignment is being missed due to placement process.

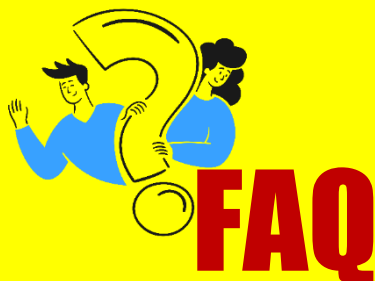

Who is my SPOC for any clarification?

The student council placement secretaries will be your Single Point of Contact.

Will I get accommodation/relocation allowance during onboarding!

These are the questions to be asked to HR when student is selected for the process. Also preplacement talk can be used to ask such doubts.

Is there a dream company concept in MIT?

No. MIT is a preferred college for many recruiters since we have a placement guideline of 'one student one offer'.

Till when I can expect placement help from MIT Placement office?
At least for the next one year after your graduation.

I am planning for higher studies. Can I sit for placement or internship?

It is advised that if a student has plans for higher studies, not to sit for the placement process. Getting selected and not joining or leaving the company after a short stint affects the relationship between companies and institute.

Should I register in the placement portal to be eligible for a placement drive?
Yes. It is mandatory that students are in the placement portal to be eligible for placement drive.

What happens if I violate the placement guidelines?

We request the students to always follow the placement guidelines. Despite this if placement guidelines are violated, student will not be eligible for further placement drives.

Can I extend my internship with the company?

Students are supposed to complete the course within the stipulated time. Any extension beyond this will result in a delay in the degree being awarded or an additional fee being paid. Hence it is not advised to extend extension. However, in specific cases if the company requests student may get permission from the parent department for the same. However, this should not impact the joining date if student has an offer in hand.

Why am I being asked to hand over offer letters to college?

This is a chance given to a student to contribute to your alma mater for its improvement in ranking nationally and internationally. Most of the ranking agencies ask us for proof of employment. Hence, we need to collect the same. We are sure, as a proud alumnus of MIT you will be happy if MIT is recognized as one of the best colleges in the world. You can be assured that the information you share will remain CONFIDENTIAL.
